

PLDI Communications Training Application Form

This training will take place July 19-21, 2019
in Toronto
We will start at 4pm on July 19th.
July 20th and 21st training will be from 9am-4pm

Communication is key to achieving results. It is a necessary skill for engaging those you lead and for building strong relationships. This training is designed to help leaders improve their communication skills. It equips you with the tools, techniques and skills to build your communication capacity at all levels.

The Communications Training will explore the following topics through presentations, group work and discussions:

- Taming your inner critic
- Basic communications
- Dealing with difficult situations
- Effective feedback
- Managing your message
- Storytelling
- Public Speaking – the basics

By the end of the training participants will:

- Recognize the role of communications in effective leadership
- Be more aware of “the inner critic” as it relates to your leadership and life. It will also support you in taking the first steps to beginning to lead, and live, with a bit more freedom from your inner critic
- Better understand and become more knowledgeable about the roles of stories and narratives in all aspects of communication
- Have crafted and shared a 3-5-minute presentation

Who is eligible to attend?

To attend you must have completed PLDI Core Training.

All applications will be reviewed by the PLDI Steering Committee and it is the Steering Committee that will make the determination as to the successful applicants.

To be reviewed, an application must include the filled in form and letter comprised in this Word document.

Applications are due by July 8th at 4pm
